April 4 ..... Night Road by Kristin Hannah

For a mother, life comes down to a series of choices. To hold on...to let go...to forget...to forgive...which road will you take?

April 11 ..... Food Rules – An Eater’s Manual by Michael Pollan

It's never too late to reevaluate how well we are doing with our nutrition. The author, our nation's most trusted resource for food-related issues, offers this indispensable guide for anyone concerned about health and food. Join us during this special topics Wednesday's discussion, as we evaluate this simple, sensible, and easy to use, set of memorable rules for eating wisely. What can we do to become more mindful of the food we eat?

April 18 ..... The Widower’s Tale by Julia Glass

Seventy-year-old Percy Darling is settling happily into retirement: reading novels, watching old movies, and swimming naked in his pond. But his routines are disrupted when he is persuaded to let a locally beloved preschool take over his barn. With equal parts affection and humor, Julia Glass spins a captivating tale about a man who can no longer remain aloof from his community, his two grown daughters, or—to his great shock—the precarious joy of falling in love.

May 2 ..... A Visit from the Goon Squad by Jennifer Egan

Bennie is an aging former punk rocker and record executive. Sasha is the passionate, troubled young woman he employs. The inner lives of a host of other characters whose paths intersect with theirs will be introduced. Will this be a novel of self-destruction and redemption?

May 9 ..... Outliers – The Story of Success by Malcolm Gladwell

Join us during our special topics Wednesday discussion as we review Malcolm Gladwell's provocative question in Outliers: why do some people succeed, living remarkably productive and impactful lives, while so many more never reach their potential? What can we learn from his research and conclusions?

May 16 ..... Half Broke Horses by Jeannette Walls

So begins the story of Lily Casey Smith, Jeannette Walls's no-nonsense, resourceful, and spectacularly compelling grandmother. By age six, Lily was helping her father break horses. At fifteen, she left home to teach in a frontier town—riding five hundred miles on her pony, alone, to get to her job. She learned to drive a car and fly a plane. Learn more about her incredible life's journey.

June 6 ..... Remarkable Creatures by Tracy Chevalier

On the windswept, fossil-strewn beaches of the English coast, poor and uneducated Mary Anning learns that she has a unique gift: "the eye" to spot fossils no one else can see. When she uncovers an unusual fossilized skeleton in the cliffs near her home, she sets the religious community on edge, the townspeople to gossip, and the scientific world alight. A voyage of discovery, two remarkable women, and an extraordinary time and place.

June 13 ..... The World is Flat – A Brief History of the Twenty-First Century by Thomas L. Friedman

The World Is Flat is an account of the great changes taking place in our time, as lightning-swift advances in technology and communications put people all over the globe in touch as never before. It is also an essential update on globalization, its successes and discontents, powerfully illuminated by one of our most respected journalists. During this special topics Wednesday discussion, what can we learn from the author's observations?

June 20 ..... Olive Kitteridge by Elizabeth Strout

As the townspeople grapple with their problems, mild and dire, Olive is brought to a deeper understanding of herself and her life—sometimes painfully, but always with ruthless honesty. The novel offers profound insights into the human condition—its conflicts, its tragedies and joys, and the endurance it requires.
